The Real Truth About Computer Servicing

Important point number 1: Usually computer maintenance is not carried out until something happens, like a hardware malfunction or software glitch. The service and price you pay depends upon the technician's experience. The end result is you may get an unpleasant surprise in the cost of the service.

Important point number 2: Using a malfunctioning computer furtively erodes your productivity and profits. Most business computers are not up to date with security and virus protection and never had any periodic maintenance. In fact, some of them are limping along operating in slow motion. Spam or unwanted email is another time waster.

Important point number 3: "Always-on-Internet" creates more security problems. A broadband Internet connection is slowly becoming a necessity for small business. It has the advantage of time saving but without proper setup and computer maintenance, it becomes a conduit for your computer to become infected spyware, viruses, Trojan horses and even computer break-ins.

Call today and schedule a specialist to examine your computer system.
